¶ PENTECOST XII

First Vespers of St. Bartholomew the Apostle are at 4:45 PM, followed by Benediction.

Today's St. Philip Benizi, second founder of the Servites, had a remarkable love for the poor. This, with the virtue of humility, he learned from "his book," as he called it, the Crucifix.

¶ CATECHISM CLASSES

It is again time to sign your children up for the Sunday Catechism classes. Fr. Lehtoranta will receive registrations for the classes after the 9:00 AM High Mass on the two following Sundays: August 30 and September 6. Classes start on September 13.

¶ NEXT SUNDAY: PENTECOST XIII

Vespers with Benediction will be at 4:45 PM.

📖 Set Your Missal: Pentecost XIII, second collect of St. Rose of Lima, third of Ss. Felix & Adauctus. Trinity Preface.

O Mary, my Queen,
I cast myself
into the arms of your mercy.
I place my soul and body
in your blessed care and under your special protection
from this world.
I entrust to you
all my hopes
and consolations,
all my anguish
and misery,
my life and the end of my life.
Through your most holy intercession
and through your merits,
grant that all my works
may be directed and carried out in accord with your will and the will of your divine Son.
Amen

my Queen

MARY OUR STRENGTH

by Pope Pius XII (1876-1958)

O Virgin, fair as the moon, delight of the angels and saints in heaven, grant that we may become like you and that our souls may receive a ray of your beauty, which does not decline with the years but shines forth into eternity. O Mary, sun of heaven, restore life where there is death and enlighten spirits, where there is darkness. Turn your countenance to your children and radiate on us your light and your fervor. O Mary, powerful as an army, grant victory to our ranks. We are very weak and our enemy rages with uttermost conceit. But under your banner we are confident of overcoming him. .... Save us, O Mary, fair as the moon, bright as the sun, awe-inspiring as an army set in battle array and sustained not by hatred but by the ardor of love. Amen.

FEAR NOT, LITTLE FLOCK

The Kingdom of God is with you, Christ told us. How obvious yet how profound these words seemed to me here in Norilsk. The visible Church, which is a reflection of God's Kingdom here on earth, was almost non-existent here in the vastness of Siberia. Christians here, even as I, had to attempt to serve God surrounded on all sides by an atmosphere of unbelief and godlessness, an atmosphere of atheistic propaganda that was almost suffocating. Yet my greatest consolation was the evident faith of the courageous Christians I served, a living witness in this desolate land to the power of God's grace and the existence of His Kingdom. Their faith, their courage, inspired me daily to offer up all my actions and works and sufferings of each day to the work of spreading the Kingdom of God upon earth.

What was I, in comparison to the millions of atheists in the Soviet Union? What was I, in comparison to the might and power of the Soviet Government? What were any of us, really, in the face of the system around us, with all its organs of propaganda and powers of persecution? Yet, in God's providence, here we were. This was the place He had chosen for us, the situation and circumstances in which He had placed us. One thing we could do and do daily: we could seek first the Kingdom of God and His justice—First of all in our own lives, and then in the lives of those around us. From the time of the Apostles—twelve simple men, alone and afraid, who had received the commission to go forth into the whole world to preach the good news of the Kingdom—there has been no other way for the spreading of the Kingdom than by the acts and the lives of individual Christians striving each day to fulfill the will of God.

— Servant of God Walter J. Ciszek, S.J.

Fr. Ciszek († 1984) was convicted of being a "Vatican Spy" in World War II and spent twenty-three years in Soviet prisons. His meditation applies perfectly to our world today. It is a comforting and challenging meditation.

FRUITS OF THE REDEMPTION

The power upon which rests the spiritual life of all souls striving to be freed from evil and raised up to God is the redemptive action of Christ, His ever active and efficacious love directed to the Father and to us. He Himself told us: As a branch cannot bear fruit all by itself, but must remain part of the vine, neither can you unless you remain in Me. I am the vine, you are the branches. The branches can live only if they are united to the vine and receive the sap from it. Come to Me, all of you who labor and are overburdened, and I will give you rest—that is, burdened under the weight of your faults and sufferings. And when I am lifted up from the earth, I shall draw all men to Myself.

HYMN TO ST. LOUIS

O holy King, how well thy crown
Thy noble rank to men extolls;
Yet wearest thou that robe of brown
Which Francis gives to humble souls.

Chorus:

St. Louis, King, so pure, so true,
In Christ's own cause unwearying,
Teach us to fight the good fight
through,
Beneath the Cross of Christ our King!

A lily shines upon thy breast,
And in thy hand a gleaming sword,
To show the world that it is best
With heart and hand to serve the Lord.

— Fray Angelico Chavez

In reparation to St. Louis, whose statue they wanted to pull down, but St. Louisians pulled harder, and it stayed up.

I saw the River
Over which every soul
Must pass to reach
The Kingdom of Heaven,
And the Name of that River
Was Suffering...
And I saw the Boat
Which carries souls
Across the River
And the Name of that Boat
Was Love.

— St. John of the Cross

With thanks to Mary Beth Grumblatt

With yesterday's feast of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, we concluded for another year the Octave of the Assumption. And what a grand feast it was. I had forgotten the blue water at the grotto, always a charming touch. But the wonderful scene there of the faithful gathered for the Blessing of Herbs will not soon be forgotten. It's posted on our website in two artistic photos, as well as in our memory. A beautiful feast for Our Blessed Mother, and an excellent attendance both days.

The other night we enjoyed some of the fresh blessed basil growing at the Assumption shrine, along with garden tomatoes generously provided, and fresh Mozzarella. Delicious salad, and good for soul and body.

Hummingbirds make the most curious insect-like noise, but are a joy to behold. Our evergreens house the little creatures, but they are mostly heard and not seen. The rains have kept the evergreens growing beautifully, and even the grass green. Remarkable for August.

Fr. Cekada had a quick Emergency Room visit on the afternoon of the Assumption. Fr. McKenna was able to stay with him, and remarked how relatively expeditious the experience was, "only" four or five hours. He was here only briefly, our missionary was, between trips; and his thoughtful charity was impressive. Fr. Cekada had a UTI, fairly common in his case, we are told. He seems slowly to be recovering, and is working again with a number of therapists.

Our teachers are already meeting, planning out the new school year. Good news: no cages or the rest of the psyop for our students. Fr. Lehtoranta is organizing the Sunday Catechism classes this year, and will himself, if possible, be teaching the First Communion Class most Sundays. Registration for "Sunday School" is available on the next two Sundays, and the first class is September 13.

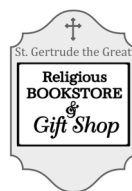

Some tasty meals have come our way of late, and we are grateful both for feast and famine, for fair weather and foul, for grass and straw. Oh, and unseen hummingbirds and crowds of faithful, and loyal Puccini, who really shouldn't be sleeping on the good chair in the front room.

God bless you,

Bishop Dolan

ST. MARY-MAGDALEN POSTEL

Julia Frances Catherine Postel was born in a small French town near Cherbourg. After studying in a Benedictine convent she returned home to teach school, though privately she dedicated herself to God's service. Her calling became clear with the onset of the Revolution, when her parish priest went underground. Postel put herself at his service, setting up a secret chapel in her home, where clandestine services could be conducted. She herself undertook religious duties, such as carrying consecrated Hosts to administer to the dying. Thus, as Pope Pius X later commented, she served as a veritable "maiden priest."

As the persecution receded, Postel devoted herself to repairing the local church, offering religious instruction, organizing prayer guilds, and performing works of mercy. In 1807 she determined that what she really wanted to do was to teach children, and for this she should organize a religious congregation.

With support from the bishop of Cherbourg, she and three others took vows as the Sisters of the Christian Schools of Mercy, and she became Mother Mary-Magdalen. After struggling for some years of dire poverty, the bishop urged them to disband. But Mother Mary-Magdalen persisted, and eventually their fortunes turned. She died on July 16, 1846, at the age of eighty-nine. She was canonized in 1925.

"I want to teach the young and to inspire them with the love of God and liking for work. I want to help the poor and relieve them of some of their misery. These are the things I want to do." – St. Mary-Magdalen Postel

"Hold your eyes on God, and leave the doing to Him. That is all the doing you have to worry about."

MASK DELUSION:

Why that useless piece of cloth on your face means the end of civil society

I'm taking a break from my engagement in the COVID-19 lockdown war in three different states—suits in New York and New Jersey and one soon to be filed in California, all involving priests of the Society of Saint Pius X—to reconnect with Remnant readers on a subject I believe to be of immediate interest to them. Namely, the COVID-19 lockdown war. But in particular, one theatre in the war that threatens to dominate the conflict and determine its final outcome: the battle over “mask mandates.”

The “mask mandate” has now clearly emerged as the one mechanism by which the Blue State-Fake News (BS-FN) complex intends to perpetuate the “COVID-19 pandemic” in the nation's collective psyche long after it has ceased to exist in reality. And cease to exist it surely has, as all the objective data demonstrate, including those published by Blue State governors themselves.

Even the inflated and wholly unreliable “Provisional Death Count” maintained by the CDC, which includes “probable” or “presumed” COVID-19 deaths without laboratory confirmation, shows a bell curve that peaked in April, “spiked” briefly in July and then rapidly plunged toward zero.

But we will never know from the CDC's statistics, or any other national database, the real number of Americans who have actually died from the effects of COVID-19 as opposed to any number of other conditions present “with,” or merely presumed to have been present “with,” the virus. That COVID-19 was the immediate cause of death for tens of thousands is undeniable, just as influenza is undeniably the cause of death for tens of thousands each flu season. But the COVID-19 death data are corrupted beyond any possible reliable reconstruction, just as those who fudged the data, following the CDC's novel COVID-only reporting protocol, intended. Even these all-but-worthless data, however, negate the claim of a continuing pandemic.

...With no more deaths or hospitalizations to speak of, and with even “cases” in the “hot spots” rapidly declining toward zero, the BS-FN now realizes that The Mask is the thing that will keep this farce going. Thus, it should be no surprise that on August 13, Joe Biden kicked off Kamala Harris's Presidential campaign by announcing the first priority for the Democrats: not the usual demands for unlimited abortions or more better sodomy, which have been put aside for the moment, but rather a “nationwide mask mandate.”

Yes, forcing 330 million people to put diapers on their faces is now a major plank in the Democrat Party platform. “Today I want to talk about one thing,” said Biden in a robotic monotone, looking down at the crib sheet he needs for any comment longer than “Come on, man!” One thing, and one thing only! The most important thing! And here it is: “Every single American should be wearing a mask when they're outside for the next three months, at a minimum. Every governor should mandate mandatory mask-wearing.”

...So, this doddering political hack, who does not even know the word “exponentially,” was sent to the podium by his handlers to deliver this gibberish, which struggles to convey the inchoate idea that everyone must wear a mask because everyone is a presumed carrier of COVID-19 who can transmit the virus to others. Expidentially! But if everyone is a presumed carrier of the virus, yet deaths and hospitalizations have plummeted to near-zero over the past six months, then everyone must also be a presumed contributor to herd immunity, in which case there is no longer a pandemic. Or, if everyone is a presumed carrier then everyone is already a presumed “case” of COVID-19, which means it is too late to protect anyone from everyone else.

...So what the Democrats are now demanding is this: 330 million Americans must be ordered to wear “face coverings”—or masks, if they want to spend the money—that have never been proven to limit viral spread and become so contaminated that one can't even touch the damned things or leave them lying around lest someone else touch them. Every American, however, must spend hours each day breathing through the very thing that cannot be touched because it is contaminated—as if microbes that collect on its outer surface would not be inhaled by the wearer, possibly including COVID-19 itself. But it is especially important, say Biden and the rest of these lying demagogues, that not only every adult, but every child over the age of two be forced to breathe through contaminated pieces of cloth that must never be touched. And who can better follow this life-saving medical advice than a three-year-old?

There is only one reason for this devilish nonsense: With COVID deaths, hospitalizations and now even “cases” declining to zero, The Mask will be the only way to maintain the hysterical germaphobia that is the key to a Democrat victory in November. The intent here is both tactical and strategic.

Tactically, The Mask helps perpetuate the Big Lie that the world outdoors is a COVID-19 danger zone, like the environs of Chernobyl, such that in-person voting at the local polling place is just too risky to require. Enter universal mail-in balloting in at least all the Blue States, unless judicial challenges are successful.

...But The Mask as necessity for personal safety allows the BS-FN to create the illusion of an outside world in which the virus, like a cloud of poison gas, hovers everywhere.

...But beyond this tactical intention, there is a deeper strategic one. The BS-FN perceives that the omnipresence of The Mask will insure continuation of the requisite state of popular fear as a visible sign and quasi-sacramental symbol that continuously reinforces fear and makes it an intrinsic element of daily life—along with the preposterous six-foot bubble zone around every living soul the masses have also been induced to accept without protest. With the aid of the “national mask mandate,” the overnight radical alteration of social order we have already seen, a state of continual punishment that conditions the masses to blind obedience to the authorities as a way of life, will sustain the lockdowns that are destroying the Trumpian Carthage and insuring dependence on government “assistance.” But the “national mask mandate” will also pave the way to permanent institutionalized acceptance of social engineering by executive order and the consequent abandonment of the entire framework of representative government, at least in the Blue States where the majority of America’s population resides.

Very Important:

...Biden is literally running for President on the promise that he will order every American to wear The Mask. Of course, that’s insane, but insanity is precisely the point: we are dealing with the symbol of a death cult of the insane partisans of partial birth abortion, a 21st century equivalent of Jacobinism and its movement toward The Terror. ...The Mask—meaning, again, any symbolic piece of cloth on one’s face, it doesn’t matter what—is an implicitly sacred oath of loyalty to the Covid Revolution of 2020, which seeks to deconstruct every remaining sound element of social, economic, political and even spiritual life just as the Jacobins did in Year One of Liberty.

It should now be obvious to us all that The Mask, that dirty thing one must not touch but only wear, never really had anything to do with health, much less “saving lives.” To don the Mask is to make a show of submission to the Revolution like the one that sealed the fate of Louis XVI when he donned the revolutionary cockade: red and blue, with the royal white later added to symbolize the King’s fatal concession to being absorbed into the new order. To quote Simon Schama’s account of the moment:

Conceding the reinvention of his kingship, Louis then accepted the cockade that Bailly offered him on the steps of the Hôtel de Ville and pinned it to his hat as trumpet and cannon shot accompanied bursts of cheering.... With his court virtually abolished and his royal ceremonial stripped from him, Louis XVI had become, at last, just another père de famille.

From the steps of the Hôtel de Ville that day in July of 1789, it was only a carriage ride to the guillotine at the renamed Place de la Révolution in January of 1793. What is to be Trump’s fate, seeing that he has already donned and expressed approval for the facial cockade of the revolutionaries who seek his destruction—and ours? Like the revolutionaries of 1789, they are busy renaming many places, rioting, looting, tearing down statues, and burying even the memory of what little passes for an American tradition. And yet, in the midst of all their shouting and their whirling violence, every single one of them wears The Mask they vehemently insist be fastened upon every single one of us.

In eighty days, we will know Trump’s fate and the course of the Revolution, assuming the votes can be counted accurately enough to know the winner—failing which, total disaster. November 4th will be either Day One of Year One of Liberty in America, the final triumph of American neo-Jacobinism, or the beginning of another period of reprieve while the revolutionary forces regather for yet another assault in their endless war on the good, the true and the beautiful—a war in which all the ground we have already lost is humanly impossible to regain. We can only hope and pray for the reprieve, and for the miracle of grace that will deliver this nation from the final outcome of its social apostasy. Meanwhile, it is our patriotic duty not to wear The Mask but to refuse it or at least evade it, come what may.

– C. Ferrara

Excerpt printed from The Remnant

Mandatory masking does three things:

1. Restricts the amount of oxygen entering our body,
2. Forces CO2 back into our bodies,
3. Hides the facial expressions in our communication.

End result: increases sickness in us, isolates us and prepares us for enslavement.

– Fr. Richard Voigt

PRAYER OF ST. ANTHONY TO THE BLESSED VIRGIN

O Mary, Virgin before the divine birth, guard my body and my soul. Hail Mary.

O Mary, Virgin during the divine birth, guard my body and my soul. Hail Mary.

O Mary, Virgin after the divine birth, guard my body and my soul. Hail Mary. (100 days)

This is a powerful prayer for purity, or just say three Hail Marys for that intention, with St. Anthony, honoring the Perpetual Virginity of Mary before, during and after the divine birth.

GOOD NEWS

These days it seems there is not much good news out there. People are still panicked over the coronavirus, governments are still trampling civil liberties in the name of fighting the virus, the economy—already teetering on the edge of collapse—has been kicked to the ground by what history may record as one of the worst man-made disasters of all time: shutting down the country to fight a cold virus.

That's why we'll take good news wherever we can get it, and President Trump's hiring of Dr. Scott Atlas to his coronavirus task force may just be that good news we need. As the media has reported, President Trump has sidelined headline-hogging Anthony Fauci in favor of Atlas, the former Stanford University Medical Center chief of neuroradiology.

Recall, Fauci was the “expert” who told us a few months ago that we would never be able to shake hands again.

Fauci's advice, forecasts, and assessments proved to be wildly wrong, contradictory, and just plain bizarre: Don't wear a mask! You must wear a mask. Masks are important as symbols. Put on goggles. Stay home! Churches must be severely restricted but Black Lives Matter marches and encounters with strangers met over the Internet are perfectly fine.

...We very much hope that Dr. Atlas will not “moderate” his message to please the blob in Washington. Trump's Covid policies to this point have caused more harm than good. With Fauci out of the driver's seat we finally have a chance of turning things around.

The Best of Ron Paul
